A picnic with Sherlock	X
------------------------	---

Last Saturday it was very sunny and warm. I wanted to go to the park and have a picnic. So I phoned my friend Dave. "A picnic in the park? That sounds like fun," Dave answered. "Great! I'll bring food and drinks," I said.

An hour later Dave, Sherlock and I walked to the park. We found a nice place for our picnic under some old trees. We sat down and I started to take out the food: sandwiches, sausages, strawberry cake, fruit, a big bottle of water and dog biscuits.

Dave and I ate some sandwiches and some cake. Sherlock had some dog biscuits.

"That was delicious," Dave said.

Then we played with my new football. That was fun!

After some time we didn't see Sherlock any more.

"Sherlock! Sherlock! Where are you?" we shouted. We went back to our picnic place, but Sherlock wasn't there.

"Oh, no! Where are all the sausages and the sandwiches? And where is Sherlock?"

We ran around and tried to find Sherlock.

Then we heard a noise behind the trees.

"Look! There's Sherlock with a girl!" I said.

"Sorry! That's my dog, Sherlock. He's crazy," I shouted. Dave and I ran to the girl.

"Hi! My name is Pia. I'm sorry. This isn't your dog. This is my dog, Sheila," the girl said.

"Your dog looks like mine. I'm Luke and this is my friend, Dave. But where is Sherlock?" I said.

"Oh, no! Stop, Sheila, wait!" Pia shouted. But the dog saw something behind the trees and ran off.

So Pia, Dave and I went to look for the dogs. We looked around the park and in the end ... we found them together!

Sherlock has a new friend. Look at that! Do you know which dog is Sherlock?
